WARPAINT ARMOUR Guideline Publications Books

Warpaint Armour is an exciting new series by Vallejo. Each title will cover an important conflict or period, looking at the tanks and other armoured fighting vehicles that shaped pivotal moments in the history of modern warfare.

Illustrated throughout with archival images and specially commissioned colour profiles, it will showcase the latest research with articles written by an international team of experts, providing information and inspiration to modellers and military history enthusiasts alike.

In each volume you will find eight featured articles covering both well-known and more obscure AFVs, as well as accounts of campaigns and the role of armour in both war and peace.

The series will take us from the origins of armoured warfare on the Western Front to the latest in military technology and the preparations made by today's militaries for future conflict.

In conjunction with Acrylicos Vallejo and Military Modelcraft International, the UK's number one military modelling monthly, the articles are written with a modeller in mind. Each volume also features a modelling gallery, showcasing some of the finest models that have been seen in Military Modelcraft International over the last decade, as well as some that have not previously been seen in print.

Warpaint Armour 1: Armour of the Eastern Front 1941-1945

"Armour of the Eastern Front 1941-1945" is the first in the new series by Guideline License Publications and the team that brings you Military Modelcraft International in collaboration with Acrylicos Vallejo.

The publication examines some of the AFVs that shaped the war on the Eastern Front during World War II – or the "Great Patriotic War" as it is remembered in Russia – which was a titanic conflict and the greatest clash of arms in history.

The subjects have been chosen with the modeler in mind and each article provides both reference and inspiration using authoritative text, archival and walkaround photos as well as specially commissioned colour profiles.
