

Editorial lines:

We are pleased to announce that the following editorial lines from Acción Press, acquired by Vallejo at the end of 2020, will be incorporated into our latest catalog of publications from November 2021.

Landscapes of War

This series is dedicated to the development of modeling techniques, as well as the use of paints and other media, to make realistic scenic bases in vignettes and dioramas. Each volume addresses a specific theme, showing different techniques and illustrating the various processes step-by-step. In addition, photos of real landscapes are included as references for each scene.

Diorama Project

This series is aimed at modelers who specialize in military vehicles or figures, and who want to set their models in a diorama and, at the same time, learn the essential techniques of other areas of modeling.

For this, a team of modelers with recognized experience in these three disciplines offers us accessible how to guides, including classic techniques, as well as the most modern and advanced.
