Vallejo presents two new sets created in collaboration with Alpine miniatures, a brand which specializes in WWII historical figures known internationally for their quality and detail.

The collaboration agreement includes the release of a series of sets which contain an exclusive figure in scale 1/35, sculpted by Taesung Hammms, and includes detailed painting guides by Jaume Ortiz.

The painting guides are available with a printed step by step description as well as in an exclusive video so the modeler can choose whichever format they prefer.

Waffen-SS Tank Crew, Kursk 1943

The fourth set of the collection includes an exclusive figure in resin, scale 1/35 by Alpine Miniatures, sculpted for Vallejo by Taesung Harmms.

The figure represents a Waffen-SS tank crewman at the Battle of Kursk, in 1943, and wears a reversible camouflage coverall in "Oak Leaf" pattern (Eichenlaubmuster), and the typical Waffen-SS black cap.

From the beginning, in 1943, until the end of the war, these camouflage coveralls were very popular amongst the crews of armored vehicles.

This set contains:

- A base color and a highlight tone for painting the black uniforms of German tank crews.
- A base color for the "Oak Leaf" pattern camouflage (Eichenlaubmuster).
- Three colors for the camouflage spots.
- A color for highlighting the camouflage colors.
- A color for painting the leather elements.
